He had determined that an addict spent 6.13 hours online each day, a figure that coincided with the US assessment of 6.14 hours a day.

When Black-Scott first picked it up, she thought it would feel like homework.